Participatory Budgeting

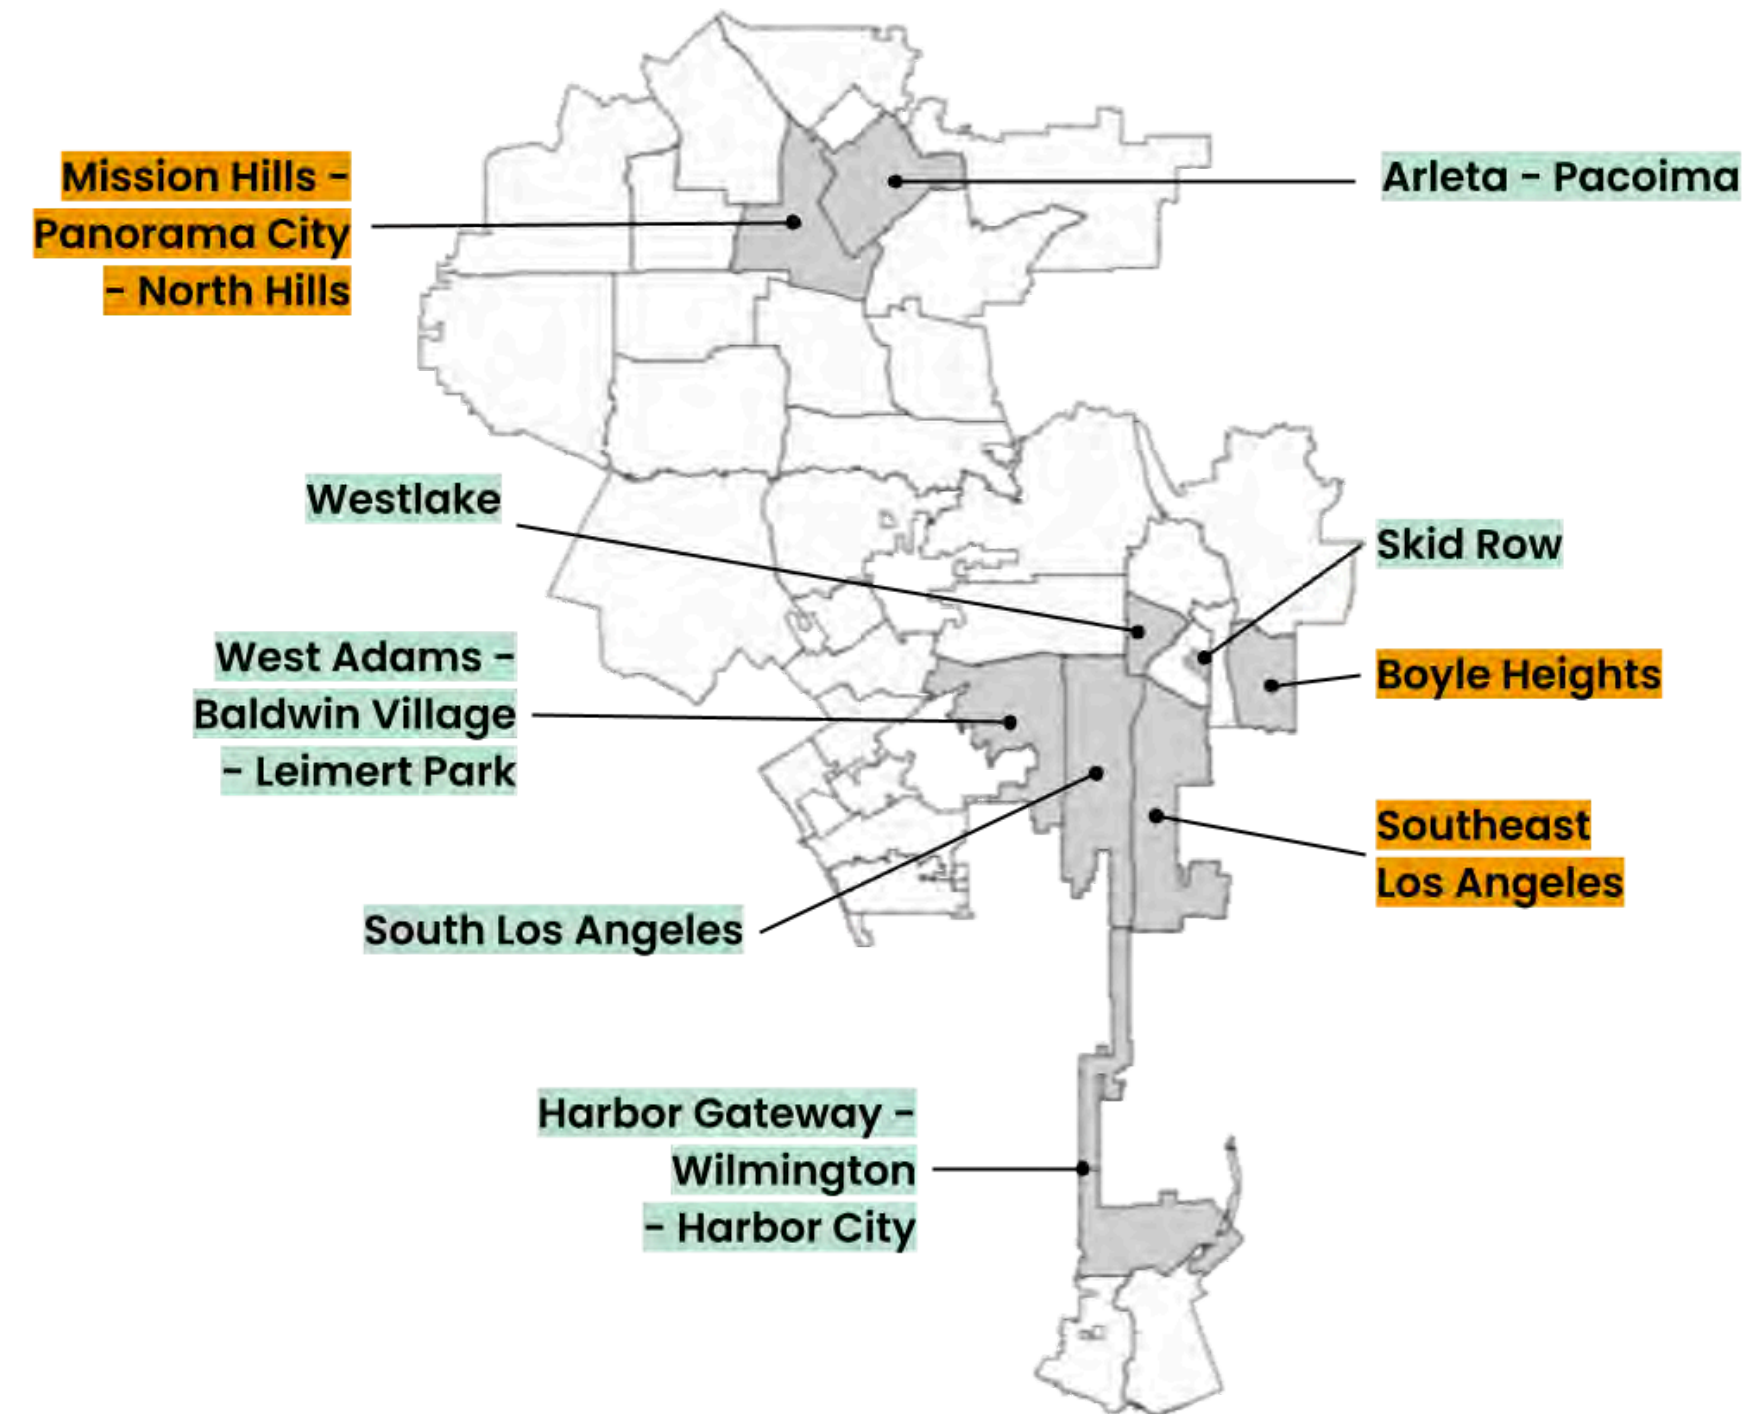

A program of the LA Civil Rights Department

The City's most marginalized communities decide how to budget $8.5 million for new programs through a direct democratic process.

Participatory Budgeting empowers the community to propose ideas, vote on proposals to fund, and implement new services and programs. Over 7,000 cities worldwide have done Participatory Budgeting, including New York City and Chicago.

In 2023, three communities decided to budget more than $3 million for expanded after-school programming in Watts, mobile medical services throughout Southeast LA, rental assistance in Boyle Heights, and a new community garden in the Valley.

In August 2024, the LA City Council approved the results of six communities' votes held this spring, which will allow the remaining $5.4 million to be spent on access to nature and nutritious food, career and job readiness programs, wellness, and wraparound support for people experiencing homelessness.

Civil Rights Enforcement

LA Civil Rights has quasi-judicial authority to address the long-standing discrimination impacting underserved communities, which denies equal treatment in private commerce, education, employment, and housing.

EXPANSION

CA Senator Lola Smallwood-Cuevas advocated for the expansion of workplace discrimination protections with SB 1340.

On September 26, 2024, Governor Newsom signed the bill into law. This pivotal legislation significantly expands our civil rights enforcement.

Community Engagement Initiatives

Our Commission on the Status of Women and California State University, Los Angeles hosted Your Self, Your City, Your Rights: A Gender and Public Safety Symposium, bringing students together for a morning rooted in connection and care.

In celebration of African American Heritage Month, we joined Mayor Bass and City Councilmembers for the ribbon-cutting of When Black Women Lead—Communities Thrive, Everybody Wins, a gallery walk which uplifts the leadership and lasting impact of African American women across Los Angeles.

Our Office of Race and Equity in partnership with the Office of Mayor Bass, Councilmembers Blumenfield and Hernandez, as well as the Youth Development Department, hosted a virtual event to share information on the region's growing behavioral health and crisis response career fields through the lens of city programming.

Community Engagement Initiatives

LA Civil Rights attended the 2026 Making LA Affordable for All Summit, featuring panels on housing, jobs, and policy to tackle poverty.

In African American Heritage Month, we attended the KBLA Talk 1580 AM Black History Month Luncheon, where Mayor Bass and City Councilmembers joined Tavis Smiley and many local leaders to honor "The Legends Who Make Us Laugh in Tough Times."

Executive Director, Capri Maddox, served as a featured panelist at the Alliance College-Ready Public Schools' annual convening, joining leaders from business, education, and government.
